Policy Impact

- My work on turnout among young people informed the IPPR and, consequently, Labour Party’s manifesto in their decision about whether to propose: a) lowering voting at sixteen; and b) introducing compulsory voting for first-time voters.
- My work on antisemitism has featured in various articles and has been discussed in the Greek Parliament. See indicatively Deutsche Welle. Policy report: Anti-Semitism in Greece Today. I have presented parts of our analysis in various settings including the British Embassy, and the Jewish Community of Athens.
- I am founding member of the Greek Public Policy Forum, which since 2012 brings together academics with policy analysts and politicians in a yearly conference that discusses economic and political dimensions of the euro-crisis.
